COURAGE AND ECONOMY.

The New York papers give the West credit for more prompt payment than for many months past, but they complain that her merchants purchase light. That is exactly the position that western trade should hold for another year at least. The proceeds of the present crop should be used as far as possible to liquidate past indebtedness. What new purchases are made should include only actual necessities—such as it is about impossible for the people to do without. While the "debt-paying" policy is rigidly adhered to, there is much in the condition of our city and the West generally to inspire confidence and courage. For the last five weeks the shipments of produce, as shown by our commercial tables have averaged sufficiently more than half a million of bushels to make it safe to say that half a million of dollars per week have been placed to the credit of Chicago for that length of time. Five to six millions of dollars worth of produce more will go forward before the close of navigation, and if shipments of beef and pork be included, from ten to twelve millions of dollars will have been placed to the credit of Chicago in New York between the first of September and the first of January. This is an immense amount of money, and if prudently used, as doubtless it will be, it will afford great relief to the West. The spring purchases of our merchants must of course be paid from these shipments, but we much mistake if there will not be a large surplus to apply to the payment of old debts. Western merchants for the past year have purchased sparingly, and this course will be pursued rigidly till the West has achieved an independent financial position. A few months ago a crowd of New York drummers and oily-tongued agents dispersed themselves over the West, to induce our merchants to purchase the heavy importations of foreign goods with which the warehouses of New York were filled. The PRESS AND TRIBUNE promptly warned our people against these very accommodating gentlemen, and they have gone home with a higher respect for the prudence and the sound judgment of Western men than they could have obtained in any other way. The New York importers, with a reckless disregard for past experience that is truly amazing, have swelled the bills for foreign goods to a figure which they have never before reached. But the West is under no obligations to relieve them from their embarrassment. Let them keep their gewgaws, and as they anxiously gaze upon their crowded shelves, let them become thoroughly convinced that they have "sold" themselves, and not the honest toiling millions of the West.

For the last few years, previous to 1857 emigration from the Eastern States and from Europe was one of the main sources of the rapid progress of the West in physical and social development. The "hard times" have reduced the emigration for the past two years to merely nominal figures. Our railways are no longer thronged with those who are seeking homes in the rich teeming West. Thousands, perhaps millions, would be glad to come, but it is impossible for them as yet to dispose of their property, and hence they are obliged to remain where they are till it shall again become saleable. During the last season the States upon the seaboard have been steadily regaining their former financial position. In some portions of New York and New England, as we learned from gentlemen visiting here at the U. S. Fair, farms have been sold during the past summer at prices nearly if not quite equal to what they would have brought before the crisis. In another year it is believed that property in all the States east of the Alleghanies will have reached a fair marketable value and will command a ready sale. Then we may confidently expect that the tide of emigration will again set steadily westward.

The state of Europe has for the past two years been unfavorable to emigration. The large drain which Ireland had previously felt, and the improved condition of her people, have prevented the usual reinforcements of "noble colts" to the ranks of the pro-slavery Democracy. The wars upon the Continent have furnished employment for the Germans either in the field or the work-shop, and hence comparatively few have left "fatherland" to seek homes in the West.

Recently the English and Scotch papers have noticed preparations for a more extensive emigration from their respective countries. Under the influence of accurate information diffused among the more intelligent classes of English and Scotch farmers and artisans by Mr. Caird's book, it is believed that Illinois will receive a large and most valuable addition to her population within the next year. The Grand Trunk railway with its correspondents and agents in every principal city in Europe will be entirely completed during the coming spring, and will open a new and extensive field for emigration. Its agents will be found in every city, town and village in Europe, and will be constantly urging the claims of Canada upon the attention of the emigrant. Its lands are not equal to those of Illinois, and its climate is much more severe, but it will be pressed with great energy upon the attention of the emigrant, and will undoubtedly receive a large share of attention. Let Illinois be on the alert, and not allow the Canadian agents to divert the tide of emigration from her borders.

A Hint to Firemen.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

SPRINGFIELD, Ills 5th, September 23, 1859.

I was through the great fire in Chicago during the Fair week, and saw the noble conduct of your firemen and citizens generally. I want to say a few words which I hope your people will take in good part. Your firemen acted nobly, energetically, but not, as I think, scientifically. There is such a thing as a science of fires—or ra her science in powers, machinery and hydrostatics. The physical sciences now have demonstrated that water is compressible—may be crowded into a smaller space than it occupies in nature—"as it runs loose round about." To compress this, power is required. The less quantity of water to be compressed the less power is needed.

Now the defect which I saw was this: The steam engines go to the river, or within eight or ten feet of it, having a short hose—the "suction" hose—which they throw into the river or they go to a city fire-plug, and there do likewise. Supposing that the fire is six blocks, four, three, two or one, your firemen pursue the home course, and run out the long hose fire-wards, probably 300, 400, 1,000 feet from the applied forces, straining the hose, bursting fully. Some persons in the West have undertaken the project of starting such an association here."

It is not true that the rupture in the American TractSociety was occasioned by the demand of anybody whomsoever that the Society should "declare it to be inconsistent with the "principles of Christianity to hold slaves." It was occasioned first by the refusal of the Society to publish tracts on "the duties growing "out of the relation of master and servant," after having previously resolved to do so; and second, by the refusal of the society to condemn the proposed reopening of the trade in negroes between the kingdom of Dahomey and the United States of America. It is not true that the New England members of the Society set up an independent association. The American Tract Society of Boston is the parent tract institution of the country. It is not true that "some persons in the West have undertaken "the project of starting such an institution "here." Such may be the result of the Convention which is called herewith, but if we read the circular correctly that project is not stated as one of the designs of the meeting. There is a Tract Society in Cincinnati, anti-slavery and reformatory in tone and spirit, which will doubtless present its claims to the proposed Convention, and receive a respectful consideration in the canvassing of plans for a more effective dissemination of the gospel truth in the West. The shamefully false and abusive tirade in the Times, concerning the action of the clergymen of Chicago on the Sunday question, needs no answer among those who know that they have done everything in their power as teachers of religion to enforce their views of the proper observance of the first day of the week. They have stopped short of inquisitorial practice and of the enactment of new laws for Sabbath observance, for obvious reasons—among which may be mentioned the monopoly held by the Catholic Church (which the Chicago Times so faithfully represents) for those articles of coercing men and women to a particular belief.

The Graham Tragedy in New Orleans.

We copy from the New Orleans Picayune of the 20th, the following particulars of the recent tragedy in New Orleans. We find no intimation in the New Orleans papers that Dr. Robert M. Graham who is the victim in this tragedy, is the same who murdered Col. Loring in New York, about five years since, and consequently are left in the dark as to the fact:

Last evening, soon after 8 o'clock, Dr. Robert M. Graham and Mr. Ernest Toledano casually met at the Ruby coffee house, on Common st., and a few moments after the latter entered, the former having been there some time previously. Toledano drew a revolver and discharged five shots at Graham, four of which took fatal effect. The Doctor staggered into the street, and fell, dead.

We learn from the statements of those who witnessed the occurrence that, upon the entrance of Toledano with some friends, Dr. Graham, upon seeing him, put his hand into his side coat pocket, as if to draw a weapon. The mark of a shot was pointed out to us, on the wall, as having been fired by Dr. Graham at Toledano. A Derringer pistol was found on the floor of the coffee house, and another like it was taken from Dr. Graham's person, after his decease.

The corpse was taken to the office of the Chief of Police, and in the course of the evening was delivered up to the relatives of the deceased. An inquest will be held in the course of the day.

We are informed upon good authority that an animosity had existed, on the part of Dr. Graham, towards Mr. Toledano, for some time past, arising out of an impression on the doctor's part, that it was the latter who opposed the Dr. Hart's appointment as city physician instead of himself was attributable. We hear of frequent threats of a hostile character as having been publicly made by the deceased against Toledano, within a few days, and of well grounded apprehensions, entertained by the latter that his life was in danger. As soon as the Doctor fell, Toledano surrendered himself to the custody of the police, avowing that he had committed the act, and that he had done it in self defence.

The Fire at Cairo.

The Cairo City Gazette has a full account of the fire which occurred at that place on the 20th.

The fire was discovered in the south corner of the Taylor House, and in an almost incredible space of time, that large structure was involved in smoke and flame. Prompt efforts to arouse the guests and attaches of the house were made, and it is believed that no one was lost. In rendering service of this character, Mr. Sam. Hall performed a part which eminently worthy of record. He visited every room in the house, (about eight,) giving the alarm, and often arousing the occupants only by dashing down the doors. Seeing every room vacated, he attempted to return, when he found the flames had destroyed several feet of the hall floor over which he had to pass. Through smoke and fire he made a leap, cleared the breach, descended two stories, to the street, just in time to see the building part in burning fragments. The Taylor House was erected at a cost of about twenty thousand dollars, and furnished at an expense of six or eight thousand dollars more. Nothing of consequence was saved.

The following other buildings were destroyed: Charles Thapp's billiard saloon, loss about $1,000. An unoccupied building owned by John Littlefield—loss $600. The "Green Tree Tavern" and a house in the rear, owned by Mat. Burnes—loss $2,500. The "Prairie House," owned and occupied by John Howley—valued at $3,500—partly saved. Four house belonging to Peter Stapleton—valued at $4,000—part of the contents saved. A house owned by Geo. Govenor, —loss $800—no insurance. Three buildings belonging to Dr. Wm. Wood,—valued at $3,500. One double house owned by Geo. Poor, loss about $1,500. The "Miller House," owned by Geo. W. Kendrick, and occupied as a hotel by C. Miller—valued at $1,500. Part of the furniture saved. A carpenter and undertaker's shop —worth $75 or $100.

There were several buildings burned, and the total loss will not fall much short of $30,000.

The following insurance offices were involved by the calamity, as follows:

Peoria Marine and Fire, Peoria	$7,000
Illinois Mutual, Alton	3,000
Phœnix, Hartford	5,000
Quincy Fire, Quincy	5,000
Ætna, Hartford	5,000

An Item for Chicago Merchants.

[From the Knoxville Journal.]

GOOD PAY FOR GOOD WHEAT.—Some of the banks in the interior of Illinois have practically refused to redeem their bills. They do not openly suspend, but they throw all possible obstacles in the way of those who demand specie, examining the bills slowly and counting out small coins in redemption. The natural consequence is that trade is turned away in a direction where there is better currency. Banks may refuse to redeem their bills, and public opinion may sustain them; but the people are not obliged to dispose of their wheat for an irredeemable currency. We have again and again expressed our bitter aversion to this miserable trash of money, and our opinion has been foisted upon our market. As the only effectual means of getting rid of this imposition, our farmers should make it a matter of principle to demand in all cases in exchange for grain the currency of our own State. The Iowa State Bank is amply competent to supply our traders with a good, safe and reliable currency, and sellers of produce would only agree firmly to urge their demand for it there can be no difficulty about their getting it. They will thus prove advantageous to the entire community, and powerfully contribute to the prosperity of our State. Farmers, try it.

Break in the Sant Canal.

During the prevalence of the recent high winds on the upper lakes, causing a rise of about two feet in the Sant Canal, a break was made in the night through the inside slope wall, and when discovered, the next morning it was as large as a man's body. The embankment had caved in for some distance, and the water was working itself through sundry crevices in the outside slope wall. But for that protection the whole embankment must have been destroyed, and the canal to seriously damaged as to have rendered it useless, perhaps for weeks. It was protected by the outside slope wall and embankment just completed. The repairs upon it were completed nineteen soon.—Detroit Advertiser.

The Administration has determined to renew the war upon Judge Douglas in its most offensive form. Every Democratic postmaster of the Call for a Tract Convention of the West.

Evangelical Christians, of various denominations, at the West, have been accustomed to cooperate through the American Tract Society at New York, in efforts "to promote the interests of vital godliness and sound morality." That Society, as now administered, has proved itself to be either inadequate or unwilling to meet the moral and religious wants of this nation, by adopting the policy of a studied silence respecting the immorality of American Slavery. The peculiar influences of the commercial metropolis amid which the annual meetings are held, and the distance of that locality from the residences of a large portion of the life members of the Society, render the effort hopeless for the present, to effect a change in the course adopted by the officers. It is, therefore, incumbent upon Western Christians to take measures to providing themselves with some other benevolent agency for the publication and circulation of religious tracts and books. It is also deemed important by many that there should be consultation as to some better method of developing Western talent and Western contributions in this work. All Evangelical Christians, therefore, throughout the Western States, who dissent from the present policy of the American Tract Society at New York, are invited, by the undersigned, to meet in Convention in the city of Chicago, on Tuesday, the 18th day of October, 1859, at 10 o'clock, A. M., to consult and act upon the subjects aforementioned.

Mr. Greeley's Experience in the Interior of Illinois.

The country papers along the route of Mr. Greeley's travels make merry over personal reminiscences of the philosopher. The following items are from the Mariposa Gazette:

Hon. Horace Greeley left Col. Fremont's residence, in Bear Valley, Thursday morning of last week, and reached Yo. Semite Valley the same night. He returned via the Big Tree grove, which is a distance of ten miles from Yo-Semite trail, reaching Bear Valley Saturday night. From Mariposa the party were absent fifty-five hours, of which fourteen were spent in the valley. This is much the quickest trip ever made. Horace, though not by any means an elegant equestrian, possesses two important qualifications for making good time, he sticks to the saddle, or, in other words, "hangs on to the crupper," with one hand, licks his beast energetically with the other, and "goes it" generally. Mr. Smith, the courteous host of Daniel Webster, whose last years were spent in defending the Fugitive Slave bill, and whose last cause to the Commonwealth was to "conquer her prejudices' against slave-hunting and to return men to bondage with alacrity."

Swapping Wives.

The Beardstown Democrat tells the following strange story:

There lived in Beardstown, Cass County, Illinois, a small family—the parents and three children—the husband being a carpenter by trade, not very persevering, but still made a comfortable living. That family appeared to be happy and to live very agreeably. Some time in the fall of 1857, they were visited by a relative from Richmond, Indiana. The relative was no less than a sister of the wife of the family alluded to—gay, good looking, and very winning in her ways. She spent her time quite agreeably, but was noticed by some to pay particular attention to the husband. Still, the family circle was not disturbed. She returned to her home in Indiana, after a few weeks' genial visiting.

On the 5th of April following, (1858,) the husband concluded that Beardstown had a poor show for improvements, and that he would seek work elsewhere, accordingly he made his arrangements to leave, and was rather more liberal in the way of providing for his family than usual before taking his leave. Which gone and that family heard no tidings of the carpenter in search of work. The first intimation received was that he had repaired to Richmond, Indiana, where his sister-in-law lived, and informed her husband that he was on his way to Pittsburgh, Pa., to visit brother-in-law. The wife concluded that it would be a favorable time for her also to visit her mother, and that she would go with her brother-in-law. It would be such a favorable time, the husband consented, and the parties prepared for their intended trip; but instead of visiting Pittsburgh, they left for parts unknown. There facts becoming fully known, the wife despaired of ever seeing her husband, brought suit for a divorce, and at the last March term of the Circuit Court for this county, was divorced from the husband, Leroy Taylor. She has lived in Beardstown until last Monday, industrious and respectable, when she, with her family, started for Indianapolis, Indiana, where her brother-in-law resides, (Mr. William B. Higgins), who was so unfortunate as to lose his wife, by having also obtained a divorce; and strange to say, to-day Mr. Higgins is to be married to Mrs. Taylor. This seems to be a fair exchange. Taylor runs off with Higgins' wife, and now Higgins marries Taylor's wife. Higgins appears to have the best of the bargain—the best woman, and the three children to boot. Rather strange occurrence, this.

A New Movement against the Webster Statue.

The Abolitionists have adopted a new cry. "Down with the Union," has given place to "Down with Webster's statue." The Dissolution of Massachusetts are convulsed with indignation that the bronze image of the Great Expounder should remain in front of the State House, and Gov. Banks is roundly denounced for recommending the Legislature to accept the statue as a gift. We quote the following words from Garrison's manifesto on the subject, published in the Liberator:

"THE STATUE MUST BE REMOVED.—Let this be the popular decree to-morrow—let the declaration go forth from every town and village—and let it be the voice of Massachusetts. A vote of the Legislature can undo what a vote has done. That vote can be secured by a prompt circulation of a petition, which is to be signed by all who in their hearts respond to the cry—THE STATUE MUST BE REMOVED.

"The stone must be removed! 'AND LET ALL THE PEOPLE SAY, AMEN!'"

Here is the petition which receives signatures in the town of Massachusetts:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, respectfully ask you to remove from the State House grounds —as no honor to the State and repugnant to the moral sense of the people—the statue of Daniel Webster, whose last years were spent in defending the Fugitive Slave bill, and whose last cause to the Commonwealth was to 'conquer her prejudices' against slave-hunting and to return men to bondage with alacrity."

On the 5th of April following, (1858,) the husband concluded that Beardstown had a poor show for improvements, and that he would seek work elsewhere, accordingly he made his arrangements to leave, and was rather more liberal in the way of providing for his family than usual before taking his leave. Which gone and that family heard no tidings of the carpenter in search of work. The first intimation received was that he had repaired to Richmond, Indiana, where his sister-in-law lived, and informed her husband that he was on his way to Pittsburgh, Pa., to visit brother-in-law. The wife concluded that it would be a favorable time for her also to visit her mother, and that she would go with her brother-in-law. It would be such a favorable time, the husband consented, and the parties prepared for their intended trip; but instead of visiting Pittsburgh, they left for parts unknown. There facts becoming fully known, the wife despaired of ever seeing her husband, brought suit for a divorce, and at the last March term of the Circuit Court for this county, was divorced from the husband, Leroy Taylor. She has lived in Beardstown until last Monday, industrious and respectable, when she, with her family, started for Indianapolis, Indiana, where her brother-in-law resides, (Mr. William B. Higgins), who was so unfortunate as to lose his wife, by having also obtained a divorce; and strange to say, to-day Mr. Higgins is to be married to Mrs. Taylor. This seems to be a fair exchange. Taylor runs off with Higgins' wife, and now Higgins marries Taylor's wife. Higgins appears to have the best of the bargain—the best woman, and the three children to boot. Rather strange occurrence, this.

Property Grows Rebellious and is Punished.

[From the Akron Courier.]

One day last week, five pieces of living, moving, self-acting merchandise, owned by some Missouri farmers residing in Missouri, some forty or fifty miles west of Chester, having forgotten—if, indeed, they had ever learned—the wise and wholesome precepts taught in the Dred Scott decision, threw off the yoke of bondage, and started freedom ward via Illinois. Although closely pursued by a large band of human bloodhounds, four of them managed to get across the Mississippi river, in Randolph county. Their pursuers, being mounted, had managed to get ahead of them, and intercepted and surrounded them while they were crossing the covered Plank Road Bridge, over Mary river, about five miles from Chester, in the midst of a violent storm, last Sunday evening. Still laboring under the hallucination that they had rights which white men were obligated to respect, the negroes were charged—with their fists, the only weapons they had—upon that portion of the pursuing army that was stationed at the east end of the bridge, and, breaking their way through, ran for "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," under the mistaken idea that they were a portion of the "all men" alluded to in the Declaration of Independence. The negro drivers fired a volley at them as they ran; one of them fell, badly wounded, but the other three continued their flight and escaped.

She wounded chattel was carried back to Chester, where it was found that one ball and two hundred shot had entered his body. He lingered along in great agony until Thursday morning, when he died. It was afterwards ascertained that two of those who escaped were severely though not fatally wounded.

Fresh Trouble in Kansas.

The people of Kansas may soon add to their day have a Governor of their own choosing, and thereby get rid of the troubles and difficulties which an inefficient executive seems to be ever thrusting in their faces. The latest proceeding is the proclamation of acting Governor Walsh in relation to the returns of the vote upon the Wyandotte Constitution. Walsh orders the returns of the election to be sent to the Governor of the Territory, and not to the President of the Constitutional Convention, as directed by the ordinance framed at Wyandotte. Fearing that some sinister advantage may be taken of this conflict the Republican Central Committee have taken wise precaution by requesting their friends to send certified copies of the results to each of the supposed lawful officers appointed to receive the same—one to the Governor and one to the President of the Convention—thus guarding against any technicality which may be used to defeat the admission of Kansas as a State before the next Congress.—St. Louis Democrat.

POLITICAL.

A rumor has reached the United States, we know not upon what authority, that John Y. Mason, American Minister at Paris, is loud in his denunciation of Mr. Buchanan's administration, and is entirely indifferent whether he is retained in his place or removed. This rumor needs confirmation.

—It is understood that a change will take place in the editorial management of the Providence Journal. The Hon. H. B. Anthony, who has conducted the Journal with distinguished ability for over twenty years, having been elected to the United States Senate, gives place to Prof. Jas. B. Angell, of Brown University. Prof. A. is no novice in his new vocation. He has long been a contributor to the columns of the Journal.

—A complimentary dinner was recently given to Robert Ridgeway, Esq., senior editor of the Richmond Whig, by the Whigs of Lunenberg county, Va. Speeches were made by the recipient of the honor, J. M. Botts, A. H. H. Stuart, Wm. H. McFarland, R. T. T. Daniel, Windham Robertson, and others.

—"Occasional," the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, writes that James Gordon Bennett will insist upon some public personal recognition of his services, before he will agree to continue to support the disastrous policy of Mr. Buchanan's administration. He was in Washington a few days since, accompanied by Mr. Galbraith, his attorney, evidently for the purpose of inducing Mr. Buchanan to yield to his demand.

—A large number of Straight Americans, of New York, have issued a protest against the mongrel ticket recently nominated at Utica by the American State Convention, and have declared their determination to oppose the ticket with all the power they possess.

—It is said that President Buchanan is greatly dissatisfied with the manner in which the New York delegation to Charleston has been selected by the office holders who controlled the Syracuse Convention. He is convinced that a project long entertained has been carried out for the purpose of degrading him and those nearest to him.

—It is said that the Detroit Free Press has, or is about to, deserti Douglas, for which act its editor is to receive the appointment of Collecter of the Port of Detroit.

—Jesse D. Bright was too sick to speak to his old friends and neighbors at the Democratic Convention on Saturday. The Madison Courier thinks it very unfortunate that Mr. Bright is always sick when there is a crisis or danger to the Union.

—Some of the rural Kentucky papers are pressing the claims of Governor Magoffin for the United States Senate. But it is said to be written down in the book of Fate that Vice President Breckenridge is to be the next United States Senator from Kentucky.

—Senators Johnson of Tennessee, and Sebastian of Arkansas, have indicated their purpose to support Mr. Douglas, should he be nominated by the Charleston Convention. At least so writes "Occasional" to the Philadelphia Press.

MAINE ELECTION.—The Portland Advertiser of the 23d contains official returns from the whole State, with the exception of a few small towns and plantations, which will not materially change the result. The total vote for Gov. Morrill is only about four thousand less than last year, while that of the Democratic candidate, is eight thousand less, thus giving a net Republican gain of four thousand. This result is as gratifying as the most sanguine Republican could wish. The Republicans also elect thirty out of the thirty-one Senators, and one hundred and nineteen out of the one hundred and fifty-one Representatives. The following is the vote for Governor:

Lot M. Morrill (Republican)	56,546
Manasseh Smith (Democrat)	44,346
Republican majority	12,000

HOW HE EXPRESSED HIS WONDER AT THE BIG TREES.

He was very companionable on the road, discussing upon light and heavy subjects with rare bluntness, and naïveté. There is considerable of a dry comic quality in his composition, which unmistakeably sticks out on suitable occasions. A peculiarity was noticeable in his manner of expressing wonder and admiration of the grand scenery of the valley, big trees, &c; when anything remarkable appeared to view he would fetch forth into whistling, which sounded like wind blowing through a knot-hole, or would roar on some "hime" or "hi-yi" pour-pose. Words of one or two syllables and metres were beautifully intermingled, and set to most execrable music, enough to charm the heart of a catcbeal out. He had likewise learned to yell or howl in coming across the plains, in a manner that would astonish any aboriginie on this continent to a dead certainty.

MEM. OF HIS TRAVELING COSTUME.

On one foot he wore a cotton sock, and on the other a woolen one. Boots, number 14, which, not many years ago, cost as much as $2.50. Pepper and salt pants, with the old white coat and hat, completed his entire habiliments, the tout ensemble of which was very striking and antique. The old coat was much dilapidated, and pieces had been cut from it in sundry and divers places. The committee that met him at Yo-Semite thought he was somewhat put out, and the Yo-Semite delegation got the rest, with most of its binding.

A CASE OF CLEAR DECEPTION.

Mr. Greeley was invited to Stockton by the authorities, and was met by those deputed for the service of welcoming him outside of the city walls, and by them taken to the mayor's house. There the corporation address was read at him, to which he replied briefly expressing thanks for his reception. He was then informed that, as the city's guest, rooms had been provided for him at their best hotel. Mr. Greeley, then, seated in a barouche, was driven to the aforesaid hotel. In the evening he addressed the citizens, and in the morning as he had established himself in his carriage, (about starting for Mariposa) the boy of the house ran out yelling: "Mr. Greeley! Oo Greeley, yer hav'nt paid yer bill!" The distinguished philosopher philosophically took out his purse, paid it and left.

A New Movement against the Webster Statue.

The Abolitionists have adopted a new cry. "Down with the Union," has given place to "Down with Webster's statue." The Dissolutionists of Massachusetts are convulsed with indignation that the bronze image of the Great Expounder should remain in front of the State House, and Gov. Banks is roundly denounced for recommending the Legislature to accept the statue as a gift. We quote the following words from Garrison's manifesto on the subject, published in the Liberator:

"THE STATUE MUST BE REMOVED.—Let this be the popular decree to-morrow—let the declaration go forth from every town and village—and let it be the voice of Massachusetts. A vote of the Legislature can undo what a vote has done. That vote can be secured by a prompt circulation of a petition, which is to be signed by all who in their hearts respond to the cry—THE STATUE MUST BE REMOVED.

"The stone must be removed! 'AND LET ALL THE PEOPLE SAY, AMEN!'"

Here is the petition which receives signatures in the town of Massachusetts:

"To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, respectfully ask you to remove from the State House grounds —as no honor to the State and repugnant to the moral sense of the people—the statue of Daniel Webster, whose last years were spent in defending the Fugitive Slave bill, and whose last cause to the Commonwealth was to 'conquer her prejudices' against slave-hunting and to return men to bondage with alacrity."

PERSONAL.

Miss Sarah A. Walker, aged 17, and pretty, whose father is a wealthy merchant in Cayuga, N. Y., ran away from home a few weeks ago and went among the Free Lovers, at Berlin Heights. There she desired to live and die, but she finding for associates only a few seedy looking, long haired men, and an equal number of haggard looking women in breeches, and short dresses, she returned home.

GERRIT SMITH.—The name of Gerrit Smith appears as umpire in a base ball match reported in the Canastota Eagle. The Utica Observer maliciously says that Mr. Smith does better at inspecting other people's runs than in running himself.

—The Empress Eugenie has just presented the dress worn by her on her first appearance at church, after the birth of the Prince Imperial, to the cathedral of which cost 25,000f., to the statue of the Virgin on the altar of Notre Dame de la Garde, at Marseilles.

UNDER A HEAVY CLOUD.—The Rev. Mr. Wright, a clergyman of Cleveland, is under a heavy cloud, being charged with licentious conduct in connection with nine young ladies in his congregation.

—In the course of a speech by Hon. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, at Indianapolis, he said he had himself been a hired man for twenty-eight years, and never supposed that he was worse off than a slave.

—A London letter writer says that Charles Dickens is about worn out—fast breaking up; that his cares, his troubles, his years, his habits, and his incessant labors to make both ends meet, have taxed his mental and physical powers until they are breaking down; and that in his readings he looks like a decayed beau—a patched, painted, perruked, he-dowager.

—Within a week past, three women have departed this life, whose near relationship to very eminent men has brought down to our time living witnesses of their daily life and conversation. They are Mrs. Catherine Kortright, the widow of John Kortright, and relict of the celebrated jurist, Brockholst Livingston, in the 83d year of her age; Mrs. Peter R. Livingston, in the 70th year of her age; and Mrs. Amasa Jackson, the only daughter of Oliver Phelps, who died at Canandaigua, aged 82 years.

FERNANDO WOOD.—The Utica Herald furnishes pen portraits of some of the Democratic celebrities at the Syracuse Convention. Of Fernando Wood it says:

Fernando Wood is the Mephistopheles of politicians. He is the mildest "mannered man" that ever packed a caucus or got up a row. He is what boarding misses would call a "dear of a creature." Slim in slender, but faultlessly proportioned, his tread elastic to sinryness, and his carriage graceful to the last degree. His forehead is high, but is well shaded over his eyes. The features regular, yet strongly marked. The general expression of his face is that of eternal placidity. He might set for the portrait of "Oily Gammon," in "Ten Thousand a Year;" and were it not for that pitiless eye and those closely compressed lips, you might mistake him for a moral reformer or a Home Missionary Society Agent. The face of Louis Napoleon is not sphynx like in its expression. Without the apparent dullness of the latter, it has all its inscrutability. We watched it narrowly during that terrible row at Syracuse, and except that it was a shade paler, you could not have known that a human passion had ever stirred it. He has, in an eminent degree the elements of a successful modern politician. He is cool, he having also obtained a divorce; and strange to say, to-day Mr. Higgins is to be married to Mrs. Taylor. This seems to be a fair exchange. Taylor runs off with Higgins' wife, and now Higgins marries Taylor's wife. Higgins appears to have the best of the bargain—the best woman, and the three children to boot. Rather strange occurrence, this.

Try a Beautiful Head of Hair.

It pleased God Himself to send for all mankind, although the rose may bloom ever so sweet, though the eye be ever so sparkling, of pearls, if the head is bereft of its natural ornament, and shrouded, hard and dry, or clothed with gray, nature will look in vain. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if it times a week, will restore and preserve it in a state of ornament. Read the following letter of the first in the celebrated Pitkin

NEW YORK, April 12, 1856.

Dear Sir: Permit me to express to you the pleasure I feel at the entire restoration of my hair by the use of your Hair Restorative. It was perfectly becoming gray, but upon the use of your Restorative, a few weeks since, it commenced coloring, and is now restored to its original color. I am satisfied that your Restorative is a very valuable article, and will recommend it to my friends. Yours truly, S. THALBERG, "Dryad's Jewelry Store."

Proprietor, 12 Nassau-st., April 12, 1856.

Wood:—Dear Sir: Some month or six since I purchased a bottle of your Hair Restorative, which has completely restored to its original color the gray hair of my head, and I take pleasure in saying that it has proved as well as my expectations. It has also restored the effect to my hair, giving it a dark brown, at the same time preventing the hair. I strongly recommend it to all persons in want of a good article.

CHARLES CARDEW.

NEW YORK, July 25, 1857.

Wood:—With confidence do I recommend it, as being the most efficacious article I have ever used for my Hair Restorative as my hair were almost white have gradually grown dark, and I feel confident that a few more applications will restore it to its natural color. It also has relieved me of a most unpleasant flushing, or rather empire freely.

LIVER INVIGORATOR.

CATHARTIC PILLS.

The Profession well know that different Cathartics act in different parts of the bowels.

The Family Cathartic Pill has, with due reference to this fact, been compounded from a long experience in their application, in such a manner as to act directly upon those parts of the system most in need of its services. In this way it cures without creating any material disturbance in other parts of the system, and thus avoids the necessity of taking large doses to get the desired effect. Hence, these Pills are found to be the most perfect Purgative yet known to the public, producing more results with less inconvenience than any other. Being sugar coated, they are pleasant to take, and are the best and cheapest Cathartic Pill in market. They keep in any climate, and are not injured by age. They are the Physician's reliable friend and the People's cheap protection, wherever they are known.

FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL,
ON FIFTH AVENUE,
At the Intersection of Broadway, opposite Madison Square, NEW YORK.
To be Opened August 23d, 1859.
This location is the most desirable of any in this great metropolis, being the most healthy, delightful, and central in the city, and very near and convenient to the Hudson River and Harlem Railroad Depots.
The entire arrangements of the establishment are the result of mature study and experience, and render it the most comfortable and home like hotel in the world.
All the modern improvements that comfort and convenience have suggested, have been introduced.
Every precaution has been taken, during construction, to secure the perfect stability of the building from the danger of conflagration. Subdivision double brick walls extend from the rock foundations to the roof. All of the floors are double, and are separated by a layer of cement, making the entire structure fireproof.
Among other important improvements, in addition to the steam elevators, a Pneumatic Railway is nearly completed for the conveyance of guests from the first to the upper floors, upon a plan which affords a delightful ride at all times.
Lofty, spacious and continuous corridors, forming a promenade of nearly a quarter of a mile in length, run the entire length of the building, on the highest stories, to every apartment.
A library and reading room has been provided for the guests. Rooms and Parlors, connecting with and the Dining Rooms, there is a grand Promenade Hall.
Suites of spacious Parlors, Chambers and Dressing Rooms, with every convenience, have been specially designed for the comfort of families, travelling parties and single gentlemen.
An Exchange, containing the Journals of the day, and all the conveniences for commercial business and letter writing, and a Telegraph Office connecting with all parts of the Union, will be found in connection with the Hotel.
Billiard and Chess Rooms of the most approved style and appointments, are provided for the use of guests and the public.
The Furniture and every article of use in the establishment, has been expressly designed and manufactured for the house, and the Proprietors are determined that the Fifth Avenue Hotel shall be the most complete and perfect in all its appointments of any hotel in the world.

☞ Chills and Fever! Chills and Fever!!—One of the greatest remedies that has ever been, and before the public, for Fever and Ague, and which has received the highest encomiums from the press and the people, is DR. J. HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED BITTERS. Who would suffer the torture arising from this terrible disease, when it can be so easily cured? Who would endure sleepless nights, burning fevers and icy chills alternately, when a remedy can be obtained for a mere trifle? And yet how many families linger out a painful existence under this deadly blight and do nothing but gulp down quinine, until it becomes as common as their daily meals, and yet they are not relieved. None but the foolish and weak would hesitate to procure those vains bile bitters, and save themselves intense misery.

FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL,
ON FIFTH AVENUE,
At the Intersection of Broadway, opposite Madison Square, NEW YORK.
To be Opened August 23d, 1859.
This location is the most desirable of any in this great metropolis, being the most healthy, delightful, and central in the city, and very near and convenient to the Hudson River and Harlem Railroad Depots.
The entire arrangements of the establishment are the result of mature study and experience, and render it the most comfortable and home like hotel in the world.
All the modern improvements that comfort and convenience have suggested, have been introduced.
Every precaution has been taken, during construction, to secure the perfect stability of the building from the danger of conflagration. Subdivision double brick walls extend from the rock foundations to the roof. All of the floors are double, and are separated by a layer of cement, making the entire structure fireproof.
Among other important improvements, in addition to the steam elevators, a Pneumatic Railway is nearly completed for the conveyance of guests from the first to the upper floors, upon a plan which affords a delightful ride at all times.
Lofty, spacious and continuous corridors, forming a promenade of nearly a quarter of a mile in length, run the entire length of the building, on the highest stories, to every apartment.
A library and reading room has been provided for the guests. Rooms and Parlors, connecting with and the Dining Rooms, there is a grand Promenade Hall.
Suites of spacious Parlors, Chambers and Dressing Rooms, with every convenience, have been specially designed for the comfort of families, travelling parties and single gentlemen.
An Exchange, containing the Journals of the day, and all the conveniences for commercial business and letter writing, and a Telegraph Office connecting with all parts of the Union, will be found in connection with the Hotel.
Billiard and Chess Rooms of the most approved style and appointments, are provided for the use of guests and the public.
The Furniture and every article of use in the establishment, has been expressly designed and manufactured for the house, and the Proprietors are determined that the Fifth Avenue Hotel shall be the most complete and perfect in all its appointments of any hotel in the world.

LOTS FOR SALE AT LAKE FOREST, ILLINOIS.
The lots belonging to LIND UNIVERSITY, and now offered for sale, present favorable inducements to persons wishing to enjoy the pleasures of country life within six hours ride of the City of Chicago.
They are located at Lake Forest, on the west bank of Lake Michigan, elevated one hundred feet above the level of the Lake, about twenty-six miles north from Chicago, on both sides of the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad, abounding in mineral and other springs and natural beauties, and in the opinion of our best physicians the advantages for health of this reserve and residence are not to be exceeded by any on the sea shore or in the Western country.
A fine Academy building (the preparatory department of Lind University) has been erected the past season, and is now in successful operation in charge of S. F. Miller, A. M.
A new Presbyterian Church, a store and more than a dozen dwellings have been erected within the past year.
In addition to the regular through trains which accommodate with train taking passengers on commutation tickets at half the regular fare, stopping every evening, and returning every morning, thus affording business men an opportunity to attend daily to the city and be with their families at night.
A good hotel has been opened and in successful operation for the past season.
The Lake Forest Association have also a few lots, mostly for family purposes, lying near the University, fronting from three to ten rods each, which will be sold at reasonable prices, and on easy terms.
The subscriber has, within the past year, sold over twelve thousand dollars worth of the lots belonging to the University and Association, and proposes to sell a few more lots, to persons who wish them for immediate improvement and cultivation.
For further particulars apply to Peter Page, No. 29 Washington street, or address him through the Post Office. Box 58, Chicago, Illinois. PETER PAGE, Agent.

Annie Tyng.

BY MRS. D. F. M. BOOTHROYD.

One pleasant hour in Autumn time,
When Nature rang in vivacious rhyme,
Through golden sp, as sailed gleam afar,
And on a verdant and flowery star,
An angel wandered gently down,
Whose shining power was its own crown;
It came to us and joy did bring—
We call that angel, Annie Tyng.

Sweet piety and native grace
Were stamped upon the cherub face,
As we lovingly hung our gaze,
How quickly a set of happy days,
Of sinless purity and love
With that sweet flower of Heaven's,
That heavenly birth brightly flung
Along life's path—was Annie Tyng.

With lips of tempting coral glow,
When I first knew her music flow;
With pearls that were adorning ev'n
Unto with child like whiteness;
With soft locks of auburn sunny gleam
Of jeweled radiance doth seem;
With these and many a pleasant thing,
Then came to us—Annie Tyng.

On, that the unsealed hours may be
From every sullied shade free,
That hope may round twine for thee,
Where not one bright flower may be,
That dipped hand, or may it know
The grievous withering blow,
Which, all unlooked for, shall fling
To those about her—Annie Tyng.

And when thy fluttering feet shall go
To find where Jordan's waters flow,
When round them rise as many a wave,
And ch se who love thee cannot save,
Pain's, sorrow's, death's precursors
Amid the wreck of life's last stay,
And safety through the valley bring
The pilgrim feet of Annie Tyng.

Rest our beloved, then, with thee,
Through heaven's gates whose old fee;
Prove her above the shining stars,
Where God and angels are,
Crown her amid unceasing day,
Her spirit clothe in white array,
Where waveth many an angel wing,
Our purest child, sweet Annie Tyng.

Foreign Intelligence.

BY THE STEAMER ARABIA.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times writes as follows:

"You will notice in the Presse of last night a Paris letter, taken from the Independance Belge, which is not unworthy of attention, from the fact of its being from the pen of a person who is known to have occasional access to the Emperor's Cabinet at the Tuileries, and is therefore believed to take his views on these subjects from the genius loci. According to the writer, or his inspirer, the Emperor's object in making the peace of Villafranca was to gain the alliance of Austria; and his object in all alliances was to accomplish the mission assigned to the second French Empire, namely, the abolition of the treaties of 1815, and the lowering of the 'moral' boundaries of France.

THE HARVEST IN IRELAND.—The Cork Constitution of Wednesday gives the annexed report of the yield of the harvest. It will be seen from the following that the most sanguine accounts of the wholesale blight of the potato crop throughout the county were exaggerated, and that all is not lost for the future safety—as fast dying away: "Accounts from various places represent the harvest as having turned out better than was anticipated. By far the greatest bulk of the cereals have been got in and secured. The wheat and barley are upon the whole considered average crops, and although oats in many places is under the average of former years, and the straw short, still not much complaint is made. Potatoes appear to be getting on very well. The rumors of blight are dying away. In this county there can be no doubt that the disease has made its appearance in some districts, but not to any great extent, and the crop promises a most abundant one. The great crops have been much saved by the late rains, and are now progressing favorably."

EVICTIONS IN IRELAND.—HEART RENDING SCENES.—The Rev. Father Mahone, priest of Beimullet, Mayo, in a letter to the Times, says: "On the 12th ultimo the sub-sheriff of the county, with a large escort of police, proceeded to the townlands of Fallmore and Blocksod, the property of the Rev. W. Palmer (distant about fifteen miles from this town), and commenced a strict search for arms and ammunition. The work of demolition continued until forty-eight families had been left houseless and homeless, the bare walls and roofs of their dwellings being left to stand. It is impossible to describe the whole scene as it occurred. When the several little detachments, each having its arms ordered, into the streets and the roofs came tumbling to the ground, the cries and the screams and frenzied exclamations that rent the air are more easily imagined than described.

The poor people had to take shelter in ditches and in the old ruins of a neighboring churchyard. Their condition up to this moment is most deplorable. One poor woman, the wife of Dennis Murphy, under the exposure of the night, was seized with the pangs of travail, and was compelled to seek admittance to a cabin where eighteen others had taken shelter also. These unfortunate creatures are now contributing from their own destitution the most novel sites and plans that intel ectual beings could think of. Through the kindness of a neighboring trader they are permitted to use the wild rocky shore of the Atlantic for that purpose. There a line of "shanties" has been erected, and it is thoroughly convinced that the next equinoctial gales, should they come from the southwest, will cause them to be washed away by the angry breakers, which are wont to roll in upon the shore at all seasons."

The following will give you an idea of these curious buildings. I visited the place on the 22d inst., in company with a gentleman from London, and what I state is the result of accurate observation made on that occasion. Pat. Gaughan, with five in family; and Anne Ga

MONETARY

MONDAY EVENING, September 26, 1859.

The day has been dull, and in the afternoon exceedingly stormy. Transactions therefore were confined to narrow limits. We notice exchange is not so close. Parties are quite willing to sell at current figures, viz two ₱ cent. Should the weather clear off and shipments become active it can hardly remain at present prices till the close of the week.

Gold two ₱ cents with no local demand. Currency plenty, but an active movement of produce would absorb it in a very few days. Discounts close and in fact not to be had except for strictly business purposes. Outside the banks there is nothing doing and rates are nominal at 1½@2 ₱ cent ₱ month.

The City of Baltimore was telegraphed this morning with Liverpool dates to the 13th inst. Flour was firm and advanced 6d. Wheat active and 2@ better. Corn steady.

The Wheat market opened quiet, but on receipt of the steamer's news, followed by a firmness in New York, it advanced 4@5c, with considerable activity. About 90,000 bu of all grades changed hands at 89c for No. 1 Red; $1.03 for No. 1 White; 76@77c for No. 1 Spring; 74@75½c for No. 2 Spring, and 70½c for Rejected—all in store—the market closing firm at the outside quotations. Flour was steady with a good shipping demand. About 2200 brls were sold at $4@4.12½ for fair to choice Spring Extras, and $3 for Superfine. Winter flour remains dull and the market weak. Corn continues scarce and in active demand. About 17,000 bu changed hands, at 74@74½c for Canal afloat; 73c for No. 1 in store, and 71c for No. 2 in store. Oats were active at an advance of 1c. About 19,000 bu were sold at 30c for No. 1 in store, and 31c for Canal afloat. Rye advanced 1c—with sales at 60@61c in store. Barley more quiet, with, however, still a good demand. No. 1 was sold to-day at 64c afloat, 62c in store, and 65 to 66c at depot and on track. Timothy Seed steady, with sales at $2 to 2.15 for common to good. Highwines scarce and firm at 25½ to 26c. Nothing doing in Provisions. Tallow, 10½c.

Freights are unchanged. Vessels were engaged to-day at 6c for wheat to Buffalo, and 8c to Oswego.

DETROIT—Sept. 24—Receipts, 5,208 brls flour; 3,965 bu wheat. The Detroit Tribune of Saturday night says:

Our market since our last, has exhibited some activity, buyers having cargoes to fill out. A lot of 1000 bbls "Industrial," Richfield," and "Wyandotte," all good red extras, were taken at 4.50, being 12½c above the prices heretofore paid. More was offered, however, at the same figure, for which a market could not be found. White wheat extras steady at 4.62½. Only a sale of 100 bbls. The other sales reported were 50 bbls XX at 4.75; 50 bbls extra red at 4.50; and 50 bbls very choice XX at 5.50. What in active demand without material change in rates; prime red at 96c. Corn is dull at 75c. Oats have been mostly withdrawn from market. Street price 30 to 32c.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 24.—Receipts, 1,023 brls flour; 23,977 bu wheat; 287 bu oats; 133 bu corn; 364 bu barley; 30 bu rye. The Sentinel of this morning says:

On Saturday the market for wheat opened at an advance of 1 to 2c, extra spring bringing 80 @82c; club (new crop) 78@79c; red 75@76c; No. 2 74@74½c; but these figures were not sustained up to noon, and although no sales at lower prices were reported, the views of buyers in the afternoon were full 2c below the opening quotations. Buyers were loth to accede to the decline, and the market closed very dull. A few transactions in flour are reported at 3.75 to 4.00 for fair to prime country spring and extra, and small lot of a favorite brand extra sold as high as 4.12½c. Oats were steady, 500 bu selling at 27c in store. No change in prices of other articles.

HORS.—The Coopers'own, (N. Y.) Journal, of the 23d says:

Picking has been much retarded during the past 10 days by unpleasant weather, and a large proportion of the hop crops still upon the vines. In some yards the hops are badly colored, and consequently damaged.

Dealers in this county are paying 12@13c for first sort. Ordinary to prime commands 8c to 11c. There is no present demand for inferior hops, and they must be slow of sale for some time. Brewers prefer paying 15c for the best hops, 10 cents for poor and 12½ for fair.

TOLEDO Sept. 24.—The wheat market yesterday presented a phase entirely different from that of the past week, opening out buoyantly with prices improved to the extent of four or cents per bushel. The receipts for the day were small, amounting to only about 5,000 bu. The prices paid ranged from $1 to $1 05 for good and prime samples; very little shipping wheat being got below $1. For ordinary and medium lots 95c to $1 was paid. There was an active demand with spirited competition, and the market was buoyant and healthy throughout the day. Wheat on the Grand Trunk cars is worth 85c per bu. Strictly No. 1 Spring is nearly offered, and is in good demand at 90c per bu. There was in large supply with still higher prices, ranging from 80c to 90c per bu. Oats were not plentiful, and were steady at 26c to 28c.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23.—Wheat; sales 4 cars red at $1.02, two cars at $1.03 and one car on private terms, which is this case means an advance on our outside figures. Receipts, 11,000 bu; no car white at all; 21,178 and two do on terms not made public. Receipts are small, with a good fair demand, and a buoyant feeling in the market, especially so for choice samples of white. Oats—sale 350 bu at 36c; market firm. Corn—Small sales from store at 72@73c. There was an active demand a few days since, and several wholesale transactions took place, but it soon died out, and the market closed quiet at our quotations. Rye—No full car loads arriving. Small lots in sacks are selling at 74@76c.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—Flour—The feeling yesterday was a shade firmer, and prices at mill were advanced from $4,00 to $4,70 for spring $4,80; 200 at $4,80 for family do; 300 do at $4,90 for family do; 300 do at $5,40 for three grades; 100 do at $4,70, $4,90 and $5,25 per; 150 do at $4,50 for spring super, $4,85 for extra and $5,37 for family do; 100 do at $4,50 for super, $5 for winter extra and $5,40 for family do; 250 do at $4,75, $5 and $5,40 for three grades; and 400 do in various lots at small lots at $4,60@4,70 for super, $4,80@4,90 for extra and $5,35 for family do. Grain—sales at depot of 300 bu oats at 30c and 450 do from store at 45@c. Rye—100 bu from store at 57. Corn—sales of 1,700 bu spring at depot at 70c, and 100 do from wagon at 60c. Wheat—none to be had from depot at $1,07; 300 do to arrive at $1,14; and 975 do from store at $1,14@1,15.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 23.—Receipts, 7,706 sacks wheat; 916 sacks corn; 858 sacks barley; 1,674 sacks oats; 50 sacks Timothy Seed; 50 sacks rye; 1,667 bbls and 416 sacks flour. The Democrat of Saturday says:

Flour inactive, no sales of city being reported. Wheat receipts were fair, but the market was dull and lower, at least 2c on some sales. Other grain was firm at a little advance. Corn selling at 74@78c and oats at 44@46c. Barley was in good demand, with light receipts, but no Rye was sold. Mess Pork sold to-day and yesterday at $18,75 ₱ bbl. Whisky advanced 1c, owing to limited receipts.

BOSTON—Sept. 23—Receipts, 3,204 bbls flour; 2,400 bu oats.

CINCINNATI—Sept. 23—The Commercial of Saturday thus reviews the markets:

Our Flour market continues to acquire a more animated appearance. Prices are well established at an advance of 10c per bbl on the quotations of the early part of the week, but the demand is not sufficient, to create any speculative feeling. Wheat remains in fair demand at fast quotations. Oats have again advanced, and other (trades are very firm. Whisky steady at 24c per gallon. Receipts during the last 24 hours:
